

CRAWFORD'S

"Watching for riches consumeth the flesh, and the care thereof driveth away sleep."
It worries us to think of you losing so much sleep these hot nights; so if you'll just bring your riches down to us we'll take care of 'em for you.

You'll find a dish of ice cream made in one of our $1.20 ice-cream freezers wonderfully cooling, and our $8.50 refrigerator, lined in charcoal, all the new patent fixings, like the presence of an iceberg in the house. Our $4.50 ice chest is small, but it will keep as much as you can get into it just as well as a $40 affair. Twin-burner gas-olene stoves, $3.50! You can't see 'em less'n $4.50 anywhere else. Seven hundred $1.25 decorated parlor lamps at 85 cents each.

St. Louis City Bonds.

The undersigned are authorized by Ordinance 18,932, approved March 15, 1887, to sell St. Louis City Bonds to the amount of about $4,800,000, for the purpose of redeeming maturing bonded indebtedness. Nearly three millions of that amount have been subscribed. We have determined, with the consent of the Ways and Means Committee of the two Houses of the Municipal Assembly, to issue bonds bearing 3-65 per cent interest. They are to be straight twenty-year GOLD REVENUE BONDS, interest on principal payable in gold at City Treasury in St. Louis, or at the fiscal agency of the city in New York, or London, England, and to be of $1,000, $500 and $100 denominations, at the option of the subscriber. Subscriptions at par will be received for said Bonds at the offices of the Mayor and Comptroller up to June 25th, 1887. City Bonds maturing June 25th and July 1st, 1887, will be taken in exchange.

With His Pot of Money Which Rosenfeld

at Milwaukee—Cincinnati Doing

Nothing—The Situation Locally.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 15.—There were many exciting scenes in the vicinity of the Board of Trade last night. Their offices were lighted from top to bottom. Even the casual observer would have suspected something wrong. There was no trouble in finding commission men who had been caught in the great break of a few hours before, and less trouble in prevailing upon them to talk.

The universal opinion was that everything hinged upon Kershaw's ability to meet the demands for margins, and that unless he did so his failure would carry down from thirty to fifty houses. There were some few who thought that if Armour and Hutchinson and two or three of the other "big ones" come forward this morning and help sustain the market that a veritable panic could be avoided, but even they claimed that a great deal depended on Mr. Kershaw.

POSITIONS "LOST AND WON."

What fortunes were lost and won during the day no one can accurately estimate. It is estimated that not less than 100,000 bushels oil at the American Exchange National Bank last night. It began at 1 o'clock and settled the sale of to-day's market. There was present Joe Wilshire, Cincinnati, a middle-aged, swarthy man; Eggleston, Kershaw's special partner, whose fortune is at stake now, because it is claimed, he has been active in the business, was there. Kershaw's face showed the most determined-looking man of the firm of Irwin, Green & Co., was the most determined-looking man of the lot. Cashier Dewar of the bank and several of the directors were present. This consultation began just as soon as Wilshire got off the Cincinnati train at the foot of Third street and hurried to the bank. He was accompanied by a good-looking, smooth-faced young fellow, whose each coat buttoned as clucked sometimes do when they are hurrying to the bank to make deposits. The pair at once entered the bank and the directors rose, where the others were to meet them. The scene presented will not soon be forgotten. Kershaw was busy writing.

HIS FACE WAS HAGGARD,

but the most looked brave. Eggleston's face was a study, too, as he sat in this interview.

The perspiration dropped from his brow and his green beard was all askew.

At 8 o'clock left the bank and walked to the corner of Dearborn and Missouri streets, where he met the young fellow who had accompanied him on the train, and who had taken this left the bank for the Chicago

Hotel. The young fellow's pockets bulged again. The two entered the bank, and in thirty minutes the council was over. Kershaw had the money to pay his differences and to margin the market.

KERSHAW'S RECOVERY.

Immediately after the opening of the Board of Trade, the Secretary stepped for a moment to the telephone.

not alone, but he was not alone, but he was

the June and July options dropping a cent at a time with alacrity. A large and curious crowd gathered on the floor here, watching the Chicago blackboard or the board, and the crowd in the pit. These knocked the fractions off prices here about as fast as cent west off in Chicago, and finally made sales at 1 1/2 to the below the figures that closed yesterday. The crowd was unusually good-natured, some having glad, as every 1/2 cent decline put more money in their hands. The St. Louis Exchange traders have undoubtedly made good profits out of this break, though a majority of them it is only paying a small amount back the money they had got in the advance. John W.

Kaufmann went around with a glad smile and a beaming eye, and in answer to a friendly question and congratulation he replied: "It's putting me out all right. I couldn't ask for anything better."

THE LAST HALF-HOUR.

of trading was quiet and uneventful, for which every one seemed profoundly thankful, as it was a hot and weary-looking crowd that died out of the doors at 1 o'clock. The decline in June wheat in Chicago from the highest point in the deal to the lowest point to-day was 2 1/2 cts.

THE TELEPHONE CASE.

Judge Thurman Makes an Able Argument for the Government.

BOSTON, June 15.—In the United States Circuit

Court the arguments in the famous Bell Telephone case were continued. Judge Thurman reviewed the manner in which the invention may be patented. By this rule patents are all locked up from the public. The whole thing is done in secret. How is the examiner to know this thing has not been known before? He cannot know it unless it comes to him by accident. But if he hears that some person has some such thing already made he has no power to call testi-
